SAGA.M31 – GALAXY – RELEASED

Alzey (Germany), April 7, 2005

The German Software Company SAGA D.C. GmbH, today announced the release of SAGA.M31 – Galaxy -. This latest version enables organization to create Web Services in 15 Minutes.

As source for the Service, SAGA.M31 – Galaxy – currently supports:

- JDBC (SQL Datenbanken)
- LDAP (Directory Server)
- 3270 (IBM Host Transaktionen)

without writing a single line of Code.

Based on J2EE compliant Application Servers like IBM WebSphere® or Apache Tomcat® this service provides Information Container that might contain data from different source platforms such as a 3270 Transaction and Directory Servers.

Developer can now really focus on the business logic and no longer take care on the data retrieval logic. Cost savings in Development and Migration projects are huge.

“We save 3 or 4 days in development using SAGA.M31 –Galaxy- compared to our current implementation”, that’s what a developer from Austria has commented. Cost savings and the impressive concept were the reason that we already made the first deal.

SAGA.M31 – Galaxy – is free of charge in the Developer Edition and the Limited Edition.

The commercial Professional Edition has several enhancements for large organizations like Accounting, Billing, Audit or performance enhancements in the connector implementations. An overview and Feature comparison can be found under the product homepage <http://galaxy.sagadc.com>. From this site it is also possible to download the product.

Another feature that is available is an Eclipse Plugin that makes it easy to integrate Information Container into an existing Product. This really helps developers to focus on the business logic of the application.

The next releases are focussed on enhancement and new connector integration. Currently a SOAP Connector and a SAP® are developed.

On April 26, 2005 will be the official release presentation hold at the Mainz City Hilton. During this event, the Technology and several live examples will be shown to the press and customers.
